THE TERRITORIES

The Kirkland murder trial is dragging its slow length along at Olympia

Ex Gov. Salomon, of Olympia, was serenaded on his return from California to his home last week

The little steamboat Chehalis was lying high and dry on last Thursday on the mud flats below Olympia

Winter has commenced in Utah with considerable vigor In the vicinity of the Lemma mine there is 5 feet of snow

Two valuable horses and two worthless scamps, named Charles Love and J C Brooke, are missing from Deer Lodge, Montana

Logging will soon commence again on the upper Puyallup, W T The Freeport Mill Company gives $500 toward opening the river.

Four steamers, one ship, one schooner and three barks arrived at Seattle within eight hours on Friday of last week, making it a very busy day for the place.

Travel from the N P R R. terminus to Olympia is much greater than ever before known. The stages of Coggan & Co make good time and are crowded every trip

Lemhi county, Idaho, elects two Republican Legislators and a Republican Sheriff The Democrats got the Assessor and Auditor, and the Republicans the rest of the ticket

An old and well known citizen of Whidby's Island was found dead at his camp, on the 18th at which time it was supposed he had been dead two days No marks of violence were discovered

The Puget Sound Courier quotes the price of wheat at Olympia at 85@90 cents per bushel, and at Tumwater, at $1 45@$1 50 per bushel There is a mistake in those figures and the Courier ought to correct them

An artesian well on the Puyallup, W T, 111 feet deep, has been sunk in alluvial deposit The water has risen to within six feet of the surface, but is not of first quality. The soil at that depth was good as at the surface

There are twenty seven patients in the Territorial Insane Asylum at Steilacoom 19 males and 8 females. Since August, 19, 1871, nineteen patients have been received, 5 have been cured and 5 improved and discharged, one has escaped and three have died.

Wives are common commodity among the Chinamen in Montana, and one of them bet his wife against money at cards recently, and lost her, but just for a joke on the winner he made a dead heathen of his late spouse before she could be carried away, and the Sheriff is going to remonstrate with him

The Olympia Tribune of the 23d says quite a fleet of shipping was then heading up the Sound From Marrowstone Point to Vashon Island, ships barks, brigs and schooners were scattered along, making an interesting picture to look upon They seemed to have gathered outside, and, by a favorable turn of the weather, come in all together.

With the evacuation by the military of San Juan and adjacent islands, serious troubles are apprehended by the settlers. It is well known that these islands contain some of the finest agricultural lands on the upper coast, parts of which have been for years held, occupied and cultivated by thrifty settlers Owing to the anomalous status of these Islands, no legal steps could be taken to perfect title to any of the same, consequently the tenure by which these lands are held by the squatters, is very frail and slender, and we are informed that numerous land grabbers are ready to pounce upon and appropriate to themselves the fields and homes of these men, who for years have industriously pursued their humble but honest calling under all the adverse circumstances induced by military rule, and unprotected by the civil arm of our Government. So says the Courier.

On the 11th inst the stage arriving at Boise City from Umatilla contained a mail sack which had been cut open and the contents rifled at Miller's (now Yuntic') station, on Burnt river. It was a through sack from the Dalles to Kelton, and left the former place on the 5th inst It appears the sack was slipped off in some way at this station while the mails were being transferred from one stage to another, and taken into the hay mow of the barn, where it was cut open and the letters deliberately gone through There were about $3,000 in money orders in the sack, and as the robbers refused to take them, it is evident they know something about the money order system, and concluded to not take the risk of being detected. There were no registered letters, and all they could have gotten was the money sent in the letters, which probably was a very small sum The sack was discovered by the hostler and given to the agent, Mr Boomer, who happened along, and was taken to Boise City Nothing, however, is yet known as to who perpetrated the robbery

There is a colored man living in Seattle, W T, who has a history that would serve as the foundation for a romantic tale His name is Clark Davis He was born a slave of George McLean of Logan county, Ky, and, after his marriage he and his wife became the property of Boscher Davis of the same county In 1852, by permission of his master, Clark Davis went to California, since which time he has not seen his family. He has succeeded in finding his wife and one son, but three other sons are missing, and he is very anxious to find them He has ascertained that one, William Hannibal, ran away before the war, and he hopes he may be found in the South Silas was sent South before the war, and Peter left home at the time of the battle of Fort Donelson. Any one who can give any information respecting either of these men is requested to write to the distressed father, who will pay any expense incurred in finding them The younger boy, Levi, is now on his way to the Pacific coast, to see his father Mrs Davis supposing her husband was dead, re married, and is now living near Lilton, Ky.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

New parties will be organized next spring to survey the route that may be chosen for the C P railway line These parties will be sent out by and at the expense of the railway company, and not at that of the Federal Government

The bark Delaware, Captain Rollins, arrived at Victoria on the 20th at 1 o'clock, and came immediately to the Hudson Bay Company's wharf, where she will discharge. She was 23 days on the trip and brings a cargo of sugar, molasses and other island produce

It is reported that the cost of the exploratory survey for a railway route will reach $1,500,000, about one half of which has been expended in British Columbia This sum will be repaid to the Government by the company undertaking the construction of the road

Snow commenced to fall at Lillooet Flat on the 7th inst, and fell to the depth of half a foot A severe frost then set in, and the thermometer fell to zero The river was frozen clear across so that a man and horse crossed on the ice The Fraser river between Lillooet and Lytton was full of floating ice At Yale the cold had been severe, and the water was within a foot of its lowest stage, but there had been no float ice Later reports state that the river was rising very slowly.

In Washington county the growing wheat crop never looked better at this season of the year than at present The amount sown is from one fourth to one third greater this season than last, and still the farmers are busy plowing and sowing, and should this favorable weather continue ten days longer, Washington county will have an enormous wheat crop the coming season.

Judge Boise in a published card declines to run for the office of Alderman in the city of Salem.

A Shrewd Swindler

NEW YORK Nov 24 —A special from Newport, R I, says the following swindling operation has come to light in that city to-night About six months ago a man called upon Oliver Read, a wealthy broker of this city and requested him to purchase seventeen thousand dollars worth of Central Pacific Railroad 10 per cent Income bonds Read told him he would not purchase, but would sell them for him for one half per cent The man consented Read immediately forwarded to Fisk & Hatch, for them to sell for him Indeed season Read received a telegram from Fisk & Hatch stating they had succeeded in disposing of them and had placed the proceeds to his credit at a bank in that city Thereupon Read informed his man, who, by the way, had failed to state his name that he had sold them and paid him $14,500, after deducting his commission This morning he received word from Fisk & Hatch stating that the bonds were counterfeit and requested him to make good their loss This fraud was detected at the office of the road company in New York when the coupons were presented for payment It is reported on good authority that the swindler was in New York yesterday, and will doubtless soon be brought to justice.

The Old Disease.

NEW YORK Nov 25 —The Times announces the organization of a new reform committee to supercede the present committee of 70, which, it is alleged has developed such a spirit of office seeking that its further assistance is unnecessary

There is a reported detection of election frauds in Louisiana and consequent transfer of the State from Greeley to Grant The Tribune says if Gov. Warmouth or any other person has been engaged in tampering with returns no trust speedy punishment will be awarded.

President's Message

NEW YORK, Nov 25 —A Washington special states that the President's Message is completed in the rough and is to be considered by the Cabinet to-morrow It does not declare in favor of general amnesty

A Painful Rumor.

NEW YORK, Nov 24 —A morning paper publishes to-day a story current in newspaper circles for nearly a week that Horace Greeley is insane It is said he is now at the house of the Asylum at White Plains The same paper publishes an interview with Whitelaw Reid in which that gentleman is made to say that Mr Greeley had been under the treatment of medical physicians for some time Reid said Greeley, notwithstanding the loss of sleep and appetite is in general good health He made a request of reporters to say Greeley was nervously prostrated There was no good in saying more than enough to worry him, and what he needs is quiet and rest The Express has announced that Greeley is not in the very bad state of health indicated by the story published this morning though unable to go to the post or perform editorial duty It discredits the statements made and hopes soon to see him restored to health

More about Mr. Greeley.

NEW YORK Nov 25 —The Express this evening says that the club rooms are full, gossip being generally about Greeley's loss of reason In a partially lit attack, seeking, the asylum at Bloomingdale We discredit them all and wish soon to see him restored to health. Life Physician, publisher of the Tribune staff of the Express reporter to-day that Mr Greeley's mind had not been seriously affected No suffered only nervous prostration At another interview he obtained from the office the statement that Greeley's insanity was not becoming of Mr Greeley's insanity being placed in an asylum Greeley has been much depressed for some days and greatly prostrated but when last heard from had sufficiently recovered to be able to rest regularly and converse with his friends Mr Greeley is afflicted of rest and seclusion from the annoyances of visitors or cares of business

The Tribune people declare the idea preposterous that Greeley is being treated at the insane asylum They admit that he suffers from a nervous collapse resulting from loss of sleep during his wife's illness A marked change for the better is expected in a day or two.

Erie Railroad Matters.

NEW YORK, Nov 25 —It is expected to-day that Jay Gould will be re-arrested at the suit of the Erie Directors, but no such order has as yet transpired. Judge Fancher to-day issued an order to the Erie Company, on the application of O P Sherman, to show cause why the order of arrest against Gould should not be vacated An order has also been granted to take the deposition of Horace F Clark to be used on the motion, Gould has made an affidavit, denying in general terms the allegations of Watson's and Smith's affidavits.

Stanley's Reception

NEW YORK, Nov 25 —The Herald club this evening gave Stanley, the discoverer of Dr Livingstone, a banquet and reception T B Connery, managing editor of the Herald, presided, and among those present were Livingstone of Canada brother to Dr Livingstone, and Earl Caledonia, now traveling in this country Stanley made a speech referring to his travels in search of Livingstone and to doubts having been thrown upon his statements Said he defied his assailants to prove that he had not met Livingstone at Ujiji

A London Special.

NEW YORK Nov 26 —A special from London says the Khedive's expedition consists of 6,000 troops, commanded by Purdy Bey, and goes to Fashoda in two parts, with the intention of joining Dr Livingstone, and co-operating with him The remainder of the troops will be employed in quelling the sources of the Nile, under Egyptian colors It is however doubtful whether the expedition is intended to join Livingstone or meet Sir Samuel Baker, but to open a new line of operations into Abyssinia

Compulsory Education

The subject of compelling the education of children is at present engaging the attention of the people of the United States, to a considerable extent An investigation in 1870, into the condition of the educational interests of the country disclosed the startling fact that in spite of our common school systems, in spite of the multitudes of colleges and academies that have sprung up throughout the land, in spite of the stimulus to mental culture which is supposed to be given by the flood of newspaper and magazine literature with which the country is constantly inundated, illiteracy is steadily increasing among us, and vice and crime, the natural offspring of ignorance, are becoming more common every day

This is an alarming state of things in view of the fact that our government is founded upon principles that presume a high degree of intelligence in the citizen, as the best safeguard to national existence The ignorant and vicious are ready instruments to the hands of those whose personal ambition is above their love of the commonwealth This Republic will never be overthrown by a foreign enemy. The future historian upon whom shall devolve the task of recording the decline of the American Government, if that sad task shall have to be performed, will point to the facility with which a large class of its voting population are led into all manner of political excesses by unscrupulous men, as one of the main causes of its fall.

There are two possible ways to provide against the evil consequences to the Government, of the prevalence of ignorance. One is such that the American people will not take to it very kindly, namely the limiting of political privileges to persons possessing certain specified educational qualifications The other is that to which the country is turning with manifest feelings both of hope and anxiety, namely: the compulsory education of the masses of the people.

Already some of the States have resolved to test the practicability of the compulsory system, and have enacted laws requiring parents to send their children, between certain prescribed ages, to some school for a given time each year. Michigan has a law, enacted last year, requiring all children of proper legal age to attend school, and making the failure to comply with the law, a penal offense on the part of the parent or guardian New Hampshire and Texas have enacted similar laws. There are differences of detail, but the central idea—compulsory attendance at school—is the same. The matter is also being agitated in Illinois, and the agitation will probably end in the adoption of the same plan in that State.

Meanwhile there arises a legal question which will have to be disposed of in some manner before the compulsory system can be made efficient. A law that cannot be enforced in the courts, is a dead letter, however popular its provisions may be. Many lawyers of respectable standing in their profession, consider that there are constitutional objections to such laws as undertake to compel attendance at school on the ground of interference with the personal liberty of the child. Upon this ground the Supreme Court of Illinois declared an act authorizing the courts to commit vagrant children to the Reform School, unconstitutional and void, except when the commitment is made as a punishment for positive crime, after the ordinary trial and conviction before a jury; and it is claimed by many that the same objection will prevail against a law compelling the parent to put his child to school as if it directed the courts to do so.

The power to commit to the reform school has long been exercised in Great Britain, and is considered well established. But whether the courts of this country will generally adopt the English view of the matter, or will incline to that side which most favors individual liberty, as have the Supreme Court of Illinois, remains to be seen. The people are alive to the necessity of taking some efficient action in the premises, and the question of authority will have to be answered, both as to the reform schools and the general power of compulsory education. It is well known that there are as few educated robbers and murderers as there are temperate men of the same kind. A people sensible of this truth, and living under a popular government, wherein every man is a unit, not only of population but of political power, will not be easily balked in a matter of such vital importance

The True Reform Party

An exchange has the following, which commends itself by its sound common sense.

Had Grant in his late interview with the Pennsylvania politicians, permitted them to dictate the nomination of a person to the vacant post mastership at Philadelphia, in violation of the rules adopted for the selection of persons for the civil service of the Government, he would have given his enemies and quasi supporters an opportunity which they would have unhesitatingly seized to make war upon the Republican party, and the independent press of the nation would have been unsparing in its denunciations of such a course. President Grant, in this matter, has shown great good sense, and we are satisfied that during his coming administration he will convince the people that the Republican is the true and only reliable reform party of the nation. Opponents of his administration have been demanding a reform in the civil service, but the reform they most dread was to turn out the present officeholders to make room for a new set, to be appointed on account of their services to their party. Grant proposes to retain those who are competent and honest, and when he makes new appointments to test the fitness and qualifications of each applicant. Such a reform is real and tangible and will benefit the service. The people will applaud his firmness, and will rejoice at the defeat of the professional politicians, and he, by his action in this matter, effectually spikes the guns of his enemies and prevents the immediate organization of the proposed reform party.

The course upon which the President has started in the matter of selecting officers for the civil service is the one best calculated to build up and cement together the party. The Republican organization, after four years of such administration will be strong, because it will possess the confidence of the honest citizenship of the country, whose politics is a matter of principle, not of pelf. As between two applicants for an office, both equally capable and honest, it would be both natural and right for the President to give the office to the man who has labored for the triumph of the Republican party and its principles, in preference to one who has stood aloof But when two Republicans present themselves as applicants for official patronage, one of whom is known to be superior to the other in the qualifications of integrity and competency, there ought to be no consideration shown to the fact that the inferior man is the superior politician. Party services are sufficiently recognized when they are allowed to turn the scale in favor of an applicant who comes equally as well recommended as his competitor in other respects Where this is the rule, men who are ambitious to occupy official stations in the world, strive to be able to present higher claims than that they have served their party efficiently

There were at the time of the fire about three hundred wholesale dealers in leather and boots and shoes in Boston, all but one or two of whom lost their entire stocks The salvage is a mere trifle. Goods of this character stowed in cellars were ruined by the intense heat Several millions of dollars were due to the tanners and curriers of these stocks, but it is said they feel such confidence in the solvency of their Boston customers that they would not give any sum to have their demands insured There will be but few failures in this line of business, and most of the dealers will pay up in full without delay. Some of them were making contracts for the renewal of their stocks, as early as Tuesday morning after the fire of Saturday night and Sunday.

A San Francisco despatch seems to indicate the bursting of the Arizona diamond bubble If this matter has been worked up from the first without any foundation in fact, it is one of the most remarkable swindles ever perpetrated even on the Pacific Coast. It seems almost incredible that a scheme so peculiar and unusual in its nature and which was denounced at first through the press of the country as a humbug and a fraud, and ridiculed as a scheme only fit to deceive the most credulous people, should succeed after all in deceiving intelligent and prudent business men. The organizers of the scheme certainly matured their plans well, and carried them out with extraordinary skill.

The Eastern dispatches bring a most painful rumor to the effect that Horace Greeley has become insane and has been committed to the asylum. It is to be hoped there is no other foundation for this report than the nervous prostration following the loss of his wife, and the excitement of the campaign.

The San Francisco Bulletin says "the President shows a wise instinct, if, as alleged, he intends to make liberality to the South a point in his message, but Congress can hesitate to follow him in that matter more safely than it can venture to oppose his efforts to reform the civil service."

Gen. Irvin McDowell is appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Major-General Meade, General McDowell was made a Brigadier-General on May 14th 1861, soon after the commencement of the war.

The Statesman reports the official vote of Coos county: Grant 321; Greeley 186. Grant's majority, 135. Curry county, Grant 108; Greeley 58. Grant's majority 50.

OREGON.

There are counterfeit $10 bills on the National Marine Bank of New York in circulation at the Dalles.

Hon. T B. Odeneal, Superintendent of Indian Affairs, started to Klamath Agency last week from Salem on an official visit.

The Circuit Court for Marion county, Judge Bonham presiding, is in session at Salem. The docket is said to be a small one.

At the dedication of the New Methodist Church, four miles from Albany, last Sunday, $160 was raised, which paid off all indebtedness.

Of the jurymen summoned on the regular panel of the Marion County Circuit Court, all were on hand at the opening of the Court last Monday but one.

Mr. Baughman, of Marion county, who was so badly injured by falling from the top of a fir tree, fifty-two feet to the ground, is reported to be lying in a dangerous condition.

The two ex Gov.'s and the ex candidate for Presidential Elector, constituting the State Board of Equalization, are all at Salem, but have done nothing as yet except to furnish occasion for several items in the local columns of the Statesman

The last two weeks have added seven families to the population of Cornelius—three from Wisconsin, three from Missouri, and one from Nebraska. Another season, with plenty of lumber, and Washington county will look strange to "old times" folks.

Trinity Church, built by the Methodists, about four miles east of Albany, was dedicated last Sunday. It is a neat frame, 40x28 feet in size, beside vestibule, and contains a belfry and spire The value is from $1,200 to $1,400, and has been built by a small class of sixteen members—eleven women and five men—with a little help from those without.

At the late term of the Circuit Court for Polk county, there were only ten divorce cases. Six divorce decrees were granted; two suits were continued and two dismissed. It is said to have been a nasty mess all round An indictment was found against Whitley for an assault with intent to kill. The trial was postponed till the next term of the Court

It is reported that a large number of stock raisers in Eastern Oregon have bands of cattle and horses, and literally no provision made for feeding them in case the grass is covered with snow, and that should the winter set in hard, thousands of head would inevitably perish, as the country is such that feed could not be conveyed to them from other sections.

The Statesman says: "The farmers of Marion county are improving well this most excellent fall weather. They are turning under large acreage of old land, plowing and ditching their swales for meadow, laying in their winter's firewood, erecting stock sheds, etc They are, generally, holding their surplus wheat for higher prices than are offered at present. As the grain crop of Oregon is "the back of Oregon," the bank may be said to be suspended, and money is tight here and trade rather dull But the time is probably not far distant when the bank will resume business and distribute the yellow plodes amongst the people at large. Heavy crops will be planted and sown next spring in this county"

A SPECIALTY,

And is now prepared to treat patients for those diseases Not being fortunate enough to have treated a great many eminent and distinguished persons, whose names are most generally emblazoned to the world by advertising physicians; but at the same time I can produce numerous and voluntary testimonials from those I have treated for the above diseases!

It is well enough known throughout California that I am the possessor of a secret to prepare a medicine, purely vegetable, for the above diseases, and have made some of the Most Remarkable Cures on Record.

And in cases which were entirely despaired of by other physicians.

A Card to the Public.

Having learned that Dr H RESSER has located himself in Portland, I deem it my duty to the public, and more particularly those persons who may be afflicted as I have been. After leaving Portland, a few months ago, I became afflicted with Epileptic Fits, and after having tried and consulted several distinguished physicians, without any benefit whatever, I was advised to call on Dr H. RESSER, who happened to be visiting Virginia City at the time on professional business. I lost no time in placing myself under the care of DR RESSER, and am now restored to perfect health. I can most highly recommend DR RESSER to those who may be equally afflicted FREDERICK FORNER

Other Testimony.

MR EDITOR. I saw in your last issue of the Press a card written by Mr P Johnson, and I deem it my duty also to make a similar statement, for the benefit of those who are troubled with disease of the lungs Three years ago I commenced under the treatment of some of the most skillful physicians of the Atlantic States, who pronounced my case Bronchial Consumption After treating with them about two years, with but little benefit, I was advised a change of climate, which I made, and came to Santa Barbara about a year ago, with the hopes of a speedy recovery, but could not see that the change had been what I anticipated until a month since I commenced under the treatment of Dr RESSER, and have improved in health very much in that time, and am confident in a short time I will be restored to perfect health under his treatment I cordially recommend DR RESSER to the public. SANTA BARBARA, CAL May 25 1871.

I consider it my duty to the public to make the following statement, hoping that some unfortunate invalid may be benefitted by it Having been sick for some time with lung disease, or consumption, I employed two to three physicians in San Francisco and other places, under whose treatment I found no relief About time since I met Dr RESSER here in Santa Barbara and knowing of some of the wonderful cures he has made for others in a short time, I put myself under his treatment and commenced to improve immediately I can warmly recommend Dr. RESSER to all who are afflicted with this dreadful disease, as he makes the lung and liver diseases his specialty

To remove all doubt from the public mind in relation to a question which has created much discussion in San Jose, I do this day deem it my duty to make the following public statement of facts Well known that my wife was very low with consumption, in fact that I had given up all hope of her recovery. I called on Dr H RESSER, who undertook consumption his specialty and in two weeks time my wife's health had so improved that she was able to walk around In the last three weeks I have been on a visit to San Francisco, at the present writing she is strong every day I can recommend DR RESSER to all who are afflicted with those complaints MOSES CHADBOURNE

WEDNESDAY MORNING,

NEAR GILT.—We were shown yesterday by Robert Fulford, one of the leading merchants of the Waldron troupe, a very neat and handsome gilt cup which he was the recipient, by the Willamette Hose Co. No. 1, as a testimonial of the respect and esteem in which Mr. Fulford is held by the "Reds," and also in consideration of the valuable services rendered by him in which he repelled the "Firemen" on the occasion of the recent conflagration. The cup is a beautiful silver match box, elegantly engraved on the borders, and bearing the following inscription: "Presented to Mr. R. Fulford."

PORTABLE ENGINE.—A portable steam engine, just completed at the Willamette Iron Works, was shipped by car this morning for Lane county. This engine will be used in driving the machinery of a small saw mill erected at that place. The engine is of the capacity of about twenty five horse power; the cylinder is of 9½ inch stroke. The main driving shaft is a large fly wheel 14 inches broad and weighing about 1,000 pounds. The weight of the boiler, engine and appurtenances altogether is about 5,000 pounds.

LAW STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION.—A number of young lawyers and law students have formed a Justice Ryan's Court rooms, an association for mental culture and improvement. It is expected there will be mock trials and cases to instruct and amuse as well as to cultivate their oratorical powers. The constitution and by-laws were adopted, and for a Judge, Sheriff and Clerk Hon. Geo. H. Williams, Esq., was elected Judge, and an election was held to point a Sheriff and Clerk for the ensuing term.

PROFESSIONAL BEGGARS.—We have been informed that there are three men in our city who follow the vocation of professional beggars. They are said to be some of their limbs bandaged in such a manner as to lead people to believe that they are crippled in some manner, and thus they succeed in imposing upon charitably disposed persons. We would not have our people withhold their charity, nor fear they will, we wish this, however, to be put on inquiry and take the proper steps to investigate the claims of those who ask alms.

NARROW ESCAPE.—On the night of the 24th, Oregon City, the Vivian troupe had a second performance, and were all at the Cliff House. The ladies were very much alarmed as the fire was just opposite, and had to get all of their numerous heavy dresses out the best in front of the hotel as practicable. The great Vivian was elected, and with assistance succeeded in getting all the baggage to a place of safety. The wardrobe had a narrow escape.

EAST PORTLAND AND SILVERTON PLANK ROAD.—We are glad to hear that the plank road, under the supervision of Mr. Hampton, is being pushed forward rapidly. The contract being placed under repairs in a manner that promises durability and safety. The Portland and Silverton Plank Road Company sustained no minor repairs by the above gentleman and others; and the thorough and substantial improvements must result in making this road to the public for its cheap and easy transportation of produce to market.

IN THE RIVER.—The following vessels are reported in the river at Astoria: The ship Kenilworth, 204 days from Middlesborough, with a cargo of railroad iron; the ship Zoroaster, 78 days from Shanghai, in ballast; the ship Nyanza, 204 days from Middlesborough, with a cargo of railroad iron; the ship Zoroaster, 78 days from Shanghai, in ballast; the ship Free Trade, 19 days from San Francisco, with a cargo; the bark Free Trade, with a cargo, 15 days from San Francisco, with a cargo of wheat to Liverpool. The above named vessels are under charter, and will load with cargoes of wheat to Liverpool.

FINISHED.—The Commission appointed to take an inventory of the stock of goods saved from the recent fire at the store of Messrs. Ladd & Tilton, and appraise the lo

NEAT GIFT —We were shown yesterday by Mr Robert Fulford, one of the leading members of the Waldron troupe a very neat little present, of which he was the recipient, by the members of Willamette Hose Co No 1 The present was a testimonial of the respect and esteem in which Mr Fulford is held by the 'boys' as an actor and also in consideration of the handsome manner in which he recited the 'Fireman's Address' on the occasion of the recent complimentary benefit tendered the Hose Company The present is a beautiful silver match box, elegantly chased about the borders, and bearing the simple words "To Mr R Fulford"

PORTABLE ENGINE —A portable boiler and engine, just completed at the Willamette Iron Works was shipped by car this morning to Cloverdale, Lane county This engine will be employed in driving the machinery of a small saw mill, just erected at that place The engine has a working capacity of about twenty five horse power The cylinder is of 9½ inch stroke Attached to the main driving shaft is a large fly wheel, with a rim 14 inches broad and weighing about 2,000 pounds The weight of the boiler, engine and steam connections altogether is about 6 000 pounds

LAW STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION —A number of young lawyers and law students met last night at Justice Ryan's Court rooms, and organized an association for mental culture and improvement It is expected there will be mock courts, lectures and essays to instruct and amuse the members, as well as to cultivate their oratorical powers. A constitution and by laws were adopted, providing for a Judge, Sheriff and Clerk O P Mason, Esq, was elected Judge, and empowered to appoint a Sheriff and Clerk for the next meeting

PROFESSIONAL BEGGARS —We are informed that there are three men in our city playing the vocation of professional beggars. They have some of their limbs bandaged in such a way as to lead people to believe that they are deformed or crippled in some manner, and thus seek to impose upon charitably disposed people While we would not have our people withhold needed alms, we fear they will, we wish this,—that they may be put on inquiry and take the pains to investigate the claims of those who ask for charity.

NARROW ESCAPE —On the night of the fire in Oregon City, the Vivian troupe had given their second performance, and were all staying at the Clif House The ladies were very much scared as the fire was just opposite, and before they could get all of their numerous heavy trunks carried out the heat in front of the hotel was almost intolerable The great Vivian was calm and collected, and with assistance succeeded in removing all the baggage to a place of safety Their whole wardrobe had a narrow escape

EAST PORTLAND AND SILVERTON PLANK ROAD —We are glad to hear that the plank road under the supervision of Mr Hampton Kelly, is now being placed under repairs in a manner which promises durability and safety. This road—"East Portland and Silverton Plank Road"—has been retained in minor repairs by the above named gentleman and others and the thorough repairs and substantial improvements must now command the road to the public for its cleanliness and comfort.

IN THE RIVER —The following vessels are now reported in the river at Astoria The ship Sir Lancelot, 204 days from Middlesborough, with a cargo of railroad iron; the ship Channel Light 38 days from Shanghai, in ballast; brig Perpetua, 30 days from San Francisco, with an assorted cargo, the bark Free Trade, with an assorted cargo, 15 days from San Francisco. The two first named vessels are under charter, and will carry cargoes of wheat to Liverpool

FINISHED —The Commission appointed to take an inventory of the stock of goods damaged by the recent fire at the store of Messrs Baum Bros., and appraise the loss sustained, finished their labors on Monday The Commission consisted of Messrs J. M Breck and L H. Lewis As yet, the total losses have not been determined The stock was insured in the Imperial $10,000, and in the Home Mutual, $5,000

ARRESTED —A man named Joe Welser was arrested last evening in the southern portion of the city with a roll of blankets under his arm As he is a notorious "rag," the officers concluded that Joe did not come by the articles in an honest way, especially as he could not give a definite account of the matter He was taken to jail and the affair will be investigated this morning before Judge Denny

LINE EXTENSION —The telegraph line, used in connection with the Commercial College, for the benefit and practice of those studying telegraphy, now extends from the office of the Western Union in the corner of Main and First It is proposed soon to further extend the line from the last named point to the corner of Third and Madison street

DECIDED.—J P O Lownsdale, Esq, yesterday received a dispatch from Hon Geo H. Williams, stating that the Supreme Court had affirmed the decision of His Honor Judge Deady in the case of Ira Squires et al vs L M Starr The suit was in regard to Block 216 and is decided in favor of Mr Lownsdale heirs

NOON CASES —The cases of Otto Troner and A Saunders, both charged with keeping open their respective saloons and trafficking in liquor on Sunday, came up yesterday before Justice Dryer. Both defendants pleaded not guilty and the cases have been set for Friday and the trial for Saturday

U S DISTRICT COURT —The U. S District Court will convene Friday morning Motions will probably be entered then setting the time for the trial of the several persons against whom indictments have been found The U S Circuit Court will convene on next Monday

MEETING OF LIQUOR DEALERS —A meeting of all liquor dealers opposed to the present Sunday liquor law will be held at the saloon of Mr Otto Tarner, corner of A and Front streets, this evening at 8 o'clock The object of the meeting is to form an association

FINED GUILTY —The case of Charles Dorfurth, charged with keeping open a saloon on Sunday came up before Justice Ryan yesterday afternoon. The defendant pleaded guilty whereupon the court imposed a fine of $5 and costs and sentenced the case

LOOKS LIKE RIVER —The steamer Emma Hay went to the east side wharf last evening and received a large quantity of wheat She will go down the river this morning and transfer the grain to the ship Lonaconing now lying off to Co lumbia City

LOCOMOTIVE DISCHARGED —The locomotive "Oregon," and her tender, were both landed on the east side wharf yesterday evening from the bark Ocean Queen The brig returned to Flanders Island, and will proceed to discharge her assorted cargo

STRANGER HOUSE —One of our hotel back yards was temporarily converted into a slaughter house, contrary to ordinance in such cases made and provided, for the purpose of making venison out of a pet deer

ADJOURNED —The Circuit Court adjourned on Monday evening until Saturday morning next, in consequence of the illness of Judge Upton's children The grand jury stands adjourned until the same hour

NEW CENTRAL SCHOOL HOUSE.

Building Nearly Completed—General Description of the Edifice, etc

In conformity with the instructions given the newly elected Board of Trustees, at the general meeting of the taxpayers on the first Monday of last April, to cause to be erected a large and commodious school building such as would more fully supply existing deficiencies and meet the growing requirements of the educational interests of the city we took on the New Central School House was commenced last summer Preparatory to the breaking of ground for the new building, the old School House which had stood for years in the center of the block fronting on Sixth street was moved back to the western limit of the block The contract was next let for the excavation for the basement of the proposed edifice After some months, the earth was removed and the brick portion of the basement completed The western side of the basement extended up even with the eastern end of the old school building This was for the purpose of joining the new to the old building and thus consolidate both into a large structure Sometime last August, the contract was let for the wooden portion of the building Work was commenced soon thereafter, and has been pushed with unabated vigor until those parts of the building have been finished, which were contemplated the present season

ORIGIN OF THE PLAN

Many defects have and still exist in the general architectural plans on which the public school buildings of Portland have been constructed. These defects have mainly consisted in an unequal distribution of light, poor ventilation and imperfect facilities for producing a uniform temperature throughout the rooms Such deficiencies had become more apparent each year as the number of pupils increased, and the corresponding want of more thorough and extensive facilities The Board of Trustees were determined to remedy the most noticeable defects to the present plans in the new building to be erected Before the plans were made by the architect various styles and models of school buildings in the East and West were sent for and carefully inspected in all their details and points of adaptability by the Trustees A plan was at length adopted by the Board which it was thought would correct many of the existing defects in the plans of the public and graded schools of Portland, with a few slight alterations to accommodate local demands The plan approved by the Board was one of several designs reported by the committee specially appointed by the Board of Education for the city of Philadelphia This committee was selected about six years ago by the School Controllers of that city Acting under instructions, the committee visited the educational institutions of Boston Providence, Worcester, Baltimore, Chicago, Milwaukee, St Louis, Columbus and other large cities Every possible facility was afforded them Each edifice was closely examined in its architectural details, manner of furnishing light, heat, and the modes of ventilation employed Whatever was defective was rejected by the committee, and the particular points of excellence in each of the various plans in general, carefully noted by them By a comparison of the many plans examined, the committee were enabled to report a number of the most approved designs, embracing all the points of comfort, convenience and utility The Board of Trustees of this city, after a long and careful examination of the several models reported by this committee to the School Controllers, and comparisons, at length adopted a plan which embodies the many superior points of the models reported

PLAN OF THE BUILDING

The Central schoolhouse is situated on the elevated block just west of the Custom House, surrounded by Morrison, Yamhill, Sixth and Seventh streets The entire length of the building, or fronting north and south, and fronting on Sixth street, is 215 feet The depth, east to west, including the old schoolhouse, is about 180 feet The building is three stories high including the basement This story is surrounded by brick walls, 15 feet in the clear and 60x120 feet When the new building is ready for occupancy this portion will be cleared of all rubbish, the ground leveled off and will be devoted to play ground purposes, when the weather is inclement Swings and gymnastic appliances will be provided so that the muscular as well as the mental training will not be overlooked The first story of

is incomplete and will not be finished until next season. The second story, which will be ready to receive pupils in a few weeks, it is thought, will afford ample room for this year, and the additional expense required to furnish the first floor, will not necessarily be incurred for the present Everything is so arranged that work can be resumed on the first story at any time when the funds on hand will warrant, and the attendance of pupils render it necessary. The dimensions of the first floor are the same as those of the basement, already described—60x120 feet. When finished it will probably be subdivided in the same manner as the second story. The

is now nearly ready for occupancy, and is undergoing the finishing touches of the painters The department of the building is divided into four school rooms situated at each corner of the building Each room is 30x40 feet In the center of this story is a large assembly room 40 feet wide, and including the length of the old building just west is 110 feet long. This assembly room fronts on each side of the four school rooms These rooms are divided by partitions consisting of large sliding glass doors On occasions when it is desirable to bring the whole school into one large room the doors are simply slid back and thus the partitions of each room are removed and the four apartments are merged into one The assembly room will be occupied every morning by the pupils when school first assembles The singing exercises will then be conducted by some of the teachers after which the pupils will be dismissed to their respective apartments At the eastern side, or rather end of the assembly room, a large rostrum will be constructed The regular exercises usually held on Friday afternoons, and the examination and exercises given at the close of the terms, will be held in the large room In case of a mass school meeting the assembly room will be used, as it will be capable of seating comfortably several thousand persons The second story throughout is plastered around the walls, and the ceiling overhead is planked This will avoid the trouble, annoyance and inconvenience attending the falling of the loosened plaster In each of the four school rooms blackboards have been painted on the plastering on two sides of the room. This provides abundant room for the largest class in each apartment, and even several classes can be accommodated at once if necessary There are two large sky lights opening from the roof into the Assembly room, and two smaller circular ones opening up from the floor from the first story These openings throw a flood of light throughout the building The glass partitions between the several apartments and the windows lend their aid in reflecting and distributing the light We have scarcely ever seen a room so large throughout which the light is so equalized and uniformly dispensed Two flights of stairs lead up from the north and south ends of the building and land on the second floor There are four stair cases—two at each end—which exactly correspond with each of the four school rooms A narrow hall way reaches from each of the school rooms to the head of the stairs On each side of the narrow halls hooks are provided on which the children can hang hats bonnets, cloaks, dinner baskets etc Too much cannot be said in favor of this arrangement as each teacher can take his or her stand at one of the doors when the pupils are dismissed, and "can have an eye" on every one as they file into the hall, take their hats, etc and march out at the other end and down the stairs to the ground The general arrangement is such that the dismissal of one department does not interfere with or disturb pupils in another room The sliding doors have also been hung so as to avoid noise and confusion in their movements The pulleys on which the doors roll are placed at the top instead of the bottom and the noise by that arrangement is not communicated to the floors The desks used will be of the Gothic style noiseless folding ones which are of a recent patent and are pronounced to be the best desk now in use They occupy but very little space, and by an ingenious contrivance can be "closed up" and be made to fill about one half the room as when in use Two hundred and sixty of these desks have been ordered from San Francisco and will arrive by the time the building is ready to be used

VENTILATION

The ventilation of the new building has been a matter of much careful attention on the part of the Trustees The plan adopted is entirely new in this country and is without exception the most perfect system in present use, more particularly for school buildings The ventilation is by what is known as the downward principle, produced by means of a double stack four feet in diameter with an inner flue of cast iron, heated by the smoke and escape heat from the boilers when in operation, and by a large common stove at other times thus creating a vacuum and strong upward blast In the stack at each floor, openings are left, connected with air spaces left between the ceilings and floors, forming a clear air space under the outer surface of the floors Openings, covered with iron gratings are placed in the floors through which the cool and impure air from the lower part of the rooms, escapes to the heated stack and induces the warm air to come down to the floor, passes under the children's feet, equalizes the temperature throughout the entire building and changes it every half hour Top ventilation is also secured by the same means when necessary to waste the heat

WATER SUPPLY

The whole building is abundantly supplied with water from a well 10 feet deep, and distributed through the premises by means of a force pump At each end of the basement are placed two large barrels, in connection with sinks The water is forced from the pump into the barrels A pipe leads from each barrel to the sink, so that the children can wash themselves when the school hours are announced Towels and combs will probably be provided In this matter provisions have been made to secure the necessary conditions of cleanliness among the pupils Nothing which could contribute to the improvement of these conditions has been overlooked

HEATING APPARATUS

Heat as essential to health and comfort, is distributed through the building by means of two large brick furnaces, each 8x12 feet and over 7 feet high In each of these furnaces are placed two large stoves over six feet long The air thus heated inside the furnaces by contact with the outside of the stoves, is driven off through the building in large tin pipes. At present, only four small pipes—each eight inches in diameter—are employed to heat the old building. So effective is the heating apparatus that the temperature can be raised from 45° to 72° in a short time When the new building is completed, two more large tin pipes will be brought into requisition, each 15 inches in diameter If found necessary, the basement will be heated by a branch pipe

SEWERAGE

Four brick sewers lead off from each side of the building, which connect with the lower ends of the pipes, conveying the water from the roof The water is thus diverted from soaking into the basement or flooding the ground It was found that the brick sewer costs but little more than wooden ones, and the brick will last forever almost In every respect the brick sewers are preferable When the North Portland school house was built, some years ago, wooden sewers were laid These sewers have choked up and rotted away, and will have to be replaced at an additional expense

BASEMENT WALL

When the old school building was moved back to its present position, it was found that the sleepers were very much decayed Moisture had been communicated to the sills from the ground, and decay naturally followed in time In constructing the new edifice, an expedient was adopted which, it is thought, will effectually counteract this tendency The two last layers of brick on the top of the basement wall have been laid in hydraulic mortar A thin sheet of plate lead was placed between the courses of brick the entire width of the wall Over this is placed the hydraulic mortar and the two layers of brick The sill is placed down on the top of the wall, without any mortar intervening The kind of mortar used, and the plate of lead, are said to be impervious to the penetration of moisture, so that the sill will be saved from the constant alternation of dry and dampness, and will last for many years to come

MISCELLANEOUS

The style of architecture adopted on the exterior portions of the edifice is a neat but plain bracketed model, and although not presenting some of the lighter architectural graces of style, preserves an appearance of substantial beauty The position occupied is elevated, which gives the structure a prominence when viewed from any portion of the town, and also enables teachers and pupils to command a handsome outlook over the city

A tower of about 100 feet in height adorns the eastern front of the building The tower, architecturally speaking, is in rather bad taste, and its appearance serves more to mar than enhance the effect of the building It is the only feature connected with the structure which fails to impress one pleasantly

The present term of the public school will be out on the 6.h of next month No vacation will, however, be given until about Christmas Efforts will be made to have the second story completed so that the building can be formally dedicated to the cause of education sometime during the holiday vacation The dedication exercises will be of an appropriate character

The throughout, from basement to attic, the building has been erected on the most economical plan in view of the purposes to which the structure is to be devoted. The design, as before stated, combines the latest and most approved styles of school architecture now in use in the Eastern cities, and also the best system of ventilation, heating and the distribution of light. The Board of Trustees, and especially Dr J G Glenn, to whom a larger share of the credit belongs than to any other member of the Board, will have no occasion to feel ashamed of this important acquisition to the educational facilities of Portland, as well as an architectural ornament to the city

The Mystery of Hollow Ash.

You want to know about the smash
That happened down to Holler Ash?
Well! Anybody knows,
He wears about my stile of clothes

'Twas Deacon Rumper's funeral,
And all was gein' well
When them thre Templars, up in town,
On an excursion train cum down.

I deliv the mourners, and "Doc Brash"
He went ahead of the procesh,
And as we neared that railroad track,
We seed the train a comin' back

Jo turned round and winked at me
And from his face he drew a V
"I'll bet you them, that they are hearse
Crosses ahead of that excurs"

The mourners they set up a yell,
And then was mistic for a spell,
It was amazin how that crowd
Cavorted up ward in a cloud

We piled them victims on the sward,
About three-quarters of a cord
(in top we put the deacon's meat,
But where Jo went, we all was beat.

We searched the ruins of that tram
But all our searchin was in vain,
And to this day it does beat me,
Where the man went that held that V

A Celestial City.

The most "used up" of travelers must rouse himself and look about him there when, having passed by an enormous establishment of fiercely military appearance, devoted to the hatching of hucks' eggs and rearing of the ducks (the latter are trained to obey the summons of a horn when sounded by a celestial drummer), they are landed on the shore of the earth-supported city, and find themselves treading streets a yard and a half in width, paved slippery, and crowded to an excess for which neither Javanese nor Siamese multitudes had prepared them. They take at random the street of the fishmongers, and slide through it upon a deposit of slime into the butchers' street, where bundles of rats, flattened and dried like "finnan haddies," and edible dogs, whose tails still retain a little tuft of yellow hair, hang up tomptingly in the stalls. To this succeed immense silk warehouses; then come the porcelain shops crammed with objects beautiful for their hideousness in many instances, and of great price. "But" says M. De Beauvoir, "all those streets have an indescribable stamp upon them; they are trodden by a population arrayed in bright colored clothing, with long tails of horse hair and pointed hats. Madarins in sky-blue silken robes jostled by strings of blind men, who wind their way in and out, holding by each other's garments; by hideous lepers, and wretches afflicted with elephantiasis, who can only crawl along the ground. Bands of vigorous coolies elbow the crowd, and push everyone out of their way. But, alas! for one well dressed Chinaman, we are saddened by the sight of 200 infirm, naked, and starving creatures, dragging their limbs along, and devoured by vermin, which hung in clusters to their skeleton bodies. Above the heads of this noisy throng, scarlet signboards covered with golden characters hung vertically, and swing in the wind. These are the signs of shops, or religious sentences. We soon began to feel quite giddy among this multitude, through which we had to fight our way with our fists and our elbows. The insects forsook the lepers and beggars who beset us, and seconded us in distressing preference; we were deserted by the richness of the shops, astonished at the misery on all sides which brought tears to our eyes, and desirous of forming some really correct notion of this great city, thirty of whose streets we had threaded without having ever seen more than ten steps before us." In order to get a good view of the swarming and humming city, the travelers climbed to the top of a great wooden tower, which was one of those most ancient institutions of the Chinese Empire, of which Mr. Carlyle has lately given so strange an account in his All Round the World, a mont de piete. It contained eight stories, in which were stowed away thousands of little parcels, all numbered and in order. M. de Beauvoir gives a detail of the institution which we do not remember to have seen elsewhere. He says: "Hundreds of pots of varnished earthenware are ranged along the edge of the tower; they are filled with vitrol, destined to be flung into the eyes of assailants." But it seems to have escaped his knowledge that these monte de piete are civic wardrobes as well, in which all the inhabitants of Canton who have any winter clothing store it in the summer time. From this post of observation they gazed over the vast extent of the city, and singled out for a visit one particularly imposing pagoda, which it took them an hour's battling with the throng in this strange city, where there are no vehicles and all the beasts of burden are human, to reach.—Spectator.

Wit and Humor of the Bible.

"Shocking!" many a good old saint will cry at the very thought of it. "The Bible a jest book? What godless folly shall we have up next?" No the Bible is not a jest book; but there is wit in it of the first quality, and a good reason why it should be there. Take a few specimens: Job, in his 30th chapter, is telling how he scorned the low-lived fellows who pretended to look down upon him in his adversities. They are fools, they belong to the long-eared fraternity. Anybody with less wit might come out bluntly and call them asses. But Job puts it more dutifully (xxx 7): "Among the bushes they brayed: under the nettles they were gathered together." If that is not wit there is no such thing as wit. And yet the commentators don't see it or won't see it. They are perfectly wooden when they come to any such gleam of humor. Take another instance—Elijah's ridicule of the prophets of Baal. They are clamoring to their god to help them out of a very awkward predicament. And, while they are at it, the prophet shows them up in a way that must have made the people roar with laughter. The stiff, antiquated style of our English Bible tames down his sallies. Take them in modern phrase. Those quack prophets have worked themselves into a perfect desperation, and are capering about on the altar as if they had the St. Vitus dance. The scene (1 Kings xviii. 26, 27) wakes up all Elijah's sense of the ridiculous. "Shout louder! He is a god, you know. Make him hear! Perhaps he is chatting with somebody, or he is off on a hunt, or gone traveling. Or may be he is taking a nap. Shout away! Wake him up!" Imagine the priests going through their antics on the altar, while Elijah bombards them in his style at his leisure. If Mr. Beecher ever said anything that convulsed his audience more thoroughly than the prophet must have done the Jews around him, I should like to hear it. Paul shows a dry humor more than once, as in 3d Cor., xi., 13: "Why haven't you fared as well as the other churches? Ah! there is one grievance—that you haven't had me to support. Pray do not lay it up against me!" These instances might be multiplied from the Old and New Testament both. What do they show? That the Bible is, on the whole a humorous book? Far from it. That religion is a humorous subject—that we are to throw all the wit we can into the treatment of it? No. But they show that the sense of the ludicrous is put into a man by his Maker; that it has its uses, and that we are not to be ashamed of it, or to roll up our eyes in holy horror of it.—Independent.

We notice that ox teams are generally pronounced a failure in the cities where the horse disease has prevailed. Now we imagine that this is too severe on the mild-eyed bovine. So far as our observation has gone, it is the drivers who are a failure. The art of driving an ox team is a peculiar one, and our city teamsters know no touch of it. If drivers had been imported from the rural districts along with the teams we have no doubt they could have been made very useful. We would not venture much on their speed, but for honest effort in a sober way commend an to the patient ox.

The remark of the London Standard, that "the Boston fire is a scandalous outrage on civilization and evidence of a most inefficient city government," is in the highest degree impertinent and ill-timed. It passes its hasty censure in total ignorance of the details of the matter of which it speaks, and wantonly libels a suffering city, to whose glory be it said, that it has always had one of the most honest and efficient municipal governments in the world.

A river in Kansas is so low that the fish have to stand on their heads to moisten their gills, and people go along and pull them like onions.

GENERAL NOTES AND NEWS.

Fohisquebronchatin is the newest name for the horse distemper.

Quails are so plentiful in Kansas that they are caught in houses and cellars.

Preserved Allen died lately in West Suffield, Mass. His name couldn't save him.

A Peoria alderman has fallen a victim to the epidemic of accidentally discharged guns.

A Montgomery compositor translated "Alpha and Omega" into "apples and oranges."

A Wisconsin Congressman evinces a regard for his constituents by kindly franking their wedding cards when they get married.

A horse suffering from distemper in Topsfield, Mass., has shown the badness of his temper by kicking his owner to death.

A St. Paul cow, in attempting to open a gate, lifted it off the hinges and carried it seven miles on a frantic run, when she fell exhausted.

A man who has been twenty-five times in jail ten years a drunkard and infidel, and has enjoyed the reputation of being Philadelphia's wickedest, is announced as a preacher of the gospel.

Mrs. Virginia Minor, of St. Louis, has sued one of the registers of election in that city, and demands $10,000 damages because he insanely refused to register her as a voter on the ground that male citizens only have a right to vote.

A defeated Greeley man in Valparaiso, Ind., has a hard wager to fulfill. His bet compels him to carry a Grant man in a wheelbarrow from Valparaiso to Chicago, a distance of fifty miles; and although he has had a barrow made very light and with springs, he will find the walk extremely monotonous.

A public calamity brings out the noblest qualities of citizens as private affliction shows the genuine virtues of individuals. All classes in Boston seem to vie with each other in generous actions. The Museum, Globe Theater and Howard Athenæum have all determined to give performances for the benefit of such as may really be reduced to want by the fire.

An English paper says that a new religious sect has made its appearance in London, which the ungodly style the "Howling Repentants." They howl at all convenient periods during the day, and at two periods during the night. Their services are conducted in the open air, as they have, as yet, no recognized place of worship. The secretary of this religion find the police to be the most serious obstacle to their devotions.

There is one drawback on the great majorities we have in 1872. What an argument of per contage they will be likely to give our adversaries in 1876! Take Pennsylvania for instance, with its hundred and thirty thousand majority. Suppose in October, 1876, it only gives a small majority of thirty or forty thousand, how completely the opposition will be able to demonstrate that the same per contage of gains would give them the country.

Thieves are scarce in Siam, and the reason is obvious: When one is convicted, he or she, it makes no difference which, is put in a bag and laid upon the ground, face downward, with the throat resting upon the sharp edge of a triangular block. The executioner then pounds with a heavy club on the back of the neck until the victim's head is bruised off. The poor kleptomaniac is gently prepared for the final operation by judicious preliminary scourgings.

President Thiers' Message on the State of France.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—The Message of President Thiers was received by the National Assembly, and read to-day. The Message begins with thanks to God for the progress of the work of reparation, and the general prosperity of the country. Referring to the extraordinary success of the last loan asked by the government, it says the whole available capital of the commercial world was offered to France. Half of the loan has been realized. In three months Germany has been paid 800,000,000 francs of the war indemnity, and she will receive 200,000,000 francs more in December. The budget shows a deficit of 132,000,000 francs for the past fiscal year; but the estimates show that the equilibrium of expenditure and revenue will be restored in 1873 and that a surplus may be looked for in 1874. Allusion is made to the disasters of the late war, the cruel dismemberment of the country, the frightful burden it had to bear, and the establishment of the Republic. All these things suddenly bursting on a surprised and disheartened country might have resulted in irreparable disaster if order had not been maintained. A forcible appeal is made to theoretical Republicans not to spare even excessive sacrifices for order in their own interests. Events have given them the Republic. The Republic exists as the legal Government. An attempt at any different form of government would lead to the most terrible revolution.

The President deprecates a formal proclamation of the Republic by the Assembly. The better policy would be to impress on the institutions of the country the features of conservative Republicanism. The republic must be conservative, otherwise it cannot exist. The absolute need of France is repose. The mass might live through a few days of agitation. After frightening others, it fears itself, and falls into the arms of an adventurer, traveling the sad and humiliating journey from anarchy to despotism and despotism to anarchy.

The slightest fault is sufficient to wreck the Republic. France, orderly and strong, inspires confidence in foreign powers, who desire above all a just equilibrium. France, if she chooses not to isolate herself, may become surrounded by trusting and useful friends. To the Assembly is left the initiation of constitutional measures. The decisive moment has arrived for the work. The President promises deference, co-operation, and devotion. The President concludes by invoking God to bless the work of the Assembly, and render complete and durable a consummation which has not been attained since the commencement of the century.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

TUESDAY EVENING, Nov. 26, 1872.

The Journal of Commerce of the 14th says "The great conflagration in Boston last Saturday and Sunday created considerable excitement in money and insurance circles. Immediately after the fire the losses were supposed to be over $200,000,000; later advices, however, show that the full amount of the losses will be le s than $100,000,000, and as the insurance was largely in English companies who will pay the full amount, and as most of the American companies will not be crippled and will be enabled to fully meet their losses, a better feeling consequently rules in money circles, and the danger of a financial panic has passed away."

So seems to be the general tone of our Eastern exchanges. All of them are confident as to the future, but at the same time deprecate the severity of the pressure in monetary affairs which has been increased by the great calamity, but not rendered probably disastrous. They also write in a general caution to the business public to avoid unusual or extraordinary speculation or any depart ure from the legitimate course of trade, together with a recommendation of the rules of economy and prudence, and with this they predict a successful issue from our present burdened condition.

New York Iron Market.

The market for Scotch Pig in New York shows no particular change; holders are generally asking up to quotations, but buyers offer much less figures, thereby causing a very quiet market. There is no disposition to press goods, but, in the absence of any demand of moment, lower prices would have to be accepted to induce business to any extent. We quote Eglinton, $47@48; Glengarnock, $50@51; Gartsherrie, $54; Carnbroe, $49; Langloan, $52, and Coltness, $56@57; but these figures are to some extent nominal. No. 1 brands of American Pig continue exceedingly scarce, especially the Allentown and Thomas brands, and are only obtained with difficulty. No. 2 and Gray Forge are more plenty. We quote No. 1, $51@55; No. 2, $48@50; and Gray Forge, $40@45.

The Wool Trade.

This is another branch of trade which it was supposed would suffer important losses by the fire. Our market is very quiet, though we learn that speculative movements tending to raise the price have been made in San Francisco. The Boston Price Current two days after the fire says:

In our last report the prospects of the wool trade looked more encouraging than at any time for six months, and dealers were in the spirits, as an active market and higher prices were confidently looked for. By the sweeping fire of Saturday night, however, the trade and wool interest of almost every dealer in the trade were destroyed. It is estimated that about 12,000 000 lbs of wool were lost, and the amount of goods and wool destroyed cannot be less than 20,0 0 000 lbs. We do not look for much business in this department for some weeks, but it is evident that the effect of the fire will lead to even higher prices for wool And woolens than were anticipated. This branch of our business has always been marked by great energy and enterprise, and we heard a sympathetic wail in dealers on account of the great loss sustained. Sales of the Cape have been made and the best lots are now held at 42½@ 43c. Domestic fleeces will probably advance full 10c. 30 before another week and foreign will rule up to corresponding prices as the stocks in this country are not now sufficient to meet the wants of manufacturers

Imports from January 1 to November 9—

	1872.	1871
Foreign, bales	81 281	51,078
Domestic, bales	128 157	185,000

The Coal Trade.

Seward's Coal Trade Circular of the 6th says:

The Coal market has continued without excitement during the week under review. As a matter of course prices were advanced on the 1st; nothing otherwise was to be expected from the condition and movements of the trade, all parties being in good request, and moving on at the new rates. It is thought there will be a good business in Anthracite during the present month of November.

The Miner's Journal, under date of Pottsville, Nov. 13, says:

The total supply of Anthracite so far this year is 16,336,669 tons, against 12 610,728 to same period last year; increase so far, 3,819,936 tons.

The supply of all kinds to date is 18,127 818 tons, against 14,345,694 tons last year; increase of all kinds so far, 3,784,120 tons.

The Boot and Shoe Trade.

This branch of business, which it was at first thought would be most seriously affected by the Boston fire, has apparently maintained a very steady condition, so far. Our own market is unchanged, and one of our Chicago exchanges under date of the 14th inst., says "The fire has in no way affected as yet any change in the condition of the Boot and Shoe market in this city. Our jobbers are in full stock of fall and winter goods, and spring goods had not as yet been placed in this market. Rubber goods are, however, likely to advance materially, as Boston held large stocks of these goods, which have been consumed by the fire. The trade has been rather quiet during the past week, consequent upon the epidemic, the late election, and the warm weather for the season.

Produce Market.

The Wheat market to-day seems to exhibit a little more animation, and limited transactions are reported from the interior of the valley. The disposition on the part of farmers to hold off for better prices seems to have given away to some extent, owing to the continued stringency in the Money market, and the growing probabilities of a continued dullness in the markets generally receiving our surplus. We hear of no change from prices last reported.

Flour is in fuller receipt, and the trade to-day has been dull. We discredit the report that any material decline will be experienced. The San Francisco market, as will be seen by reference to our dispatches, is unchanged, extra Standard brands being quotable at $5 2 at the outside.

Oats until recently have not been extensively in the market, and but few large transactions have occurred. The California market is active and the demand is good at our telegraphic quotations, given below. Sales have been effected to-day at $1 60 ¾ cental, which is the ruling rate.

Hay continues to arrive in sufficient quantities to supply the local demand, and prices are firm at $16@16 ¾ ton.

Food is steady at our last quotations, with prosp cts of an increasing demand

The receipts of Poultry to-day have been pretty large, and prices are well maintained. Hens and Roosters are quoted at $3 50@4 ¾ dozen; Turkeys $15@18; Geese $10@12.

Dairy products are in better supply, with a good de mand and prices unchanged.

Eggs are also received in greater quantities, and price seem to have weakened.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Acknowledging the manifold favors which we have received as a people during the year now drawing to a close, and thankful for plenteous harvests, general health and assured prosperity, I recommend to the people of this State the observance of Thursday, the twenty-eighth day of November, A. D. 1872, as a day of thanksgiving and praise to the Great Author of all blessings, and that on that day the people assemble in their usual places of worship and "render thanks for the great benefits we have received at His hands."

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed. Done at the Executive Office, in the city of Salem, this 7th day of November, A. D. 1872.

By the Governor. L. F. GROVER.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 622 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cured before it is too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Do therefore carefully make a correct inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or ungoverned sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited ext
